Every problem has a solution

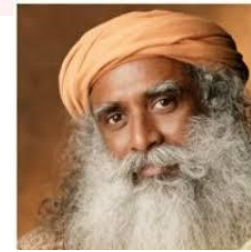

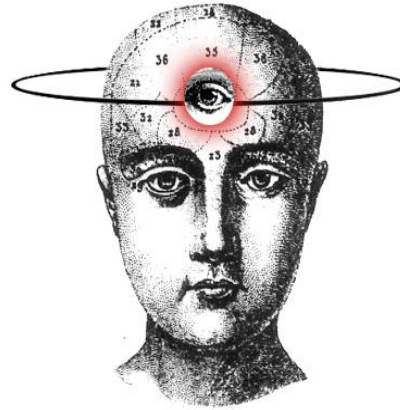

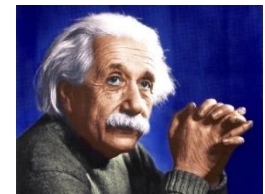

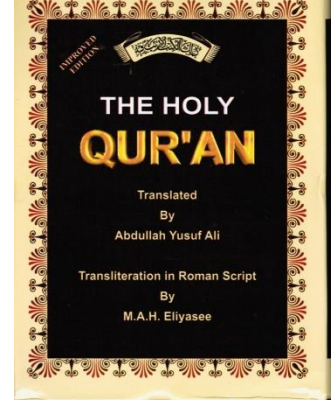

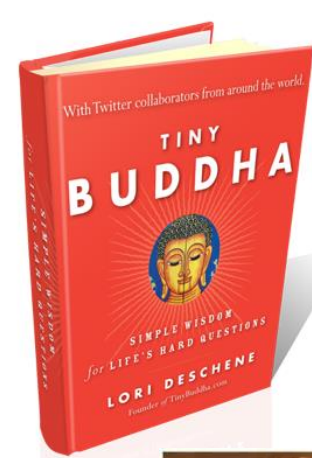

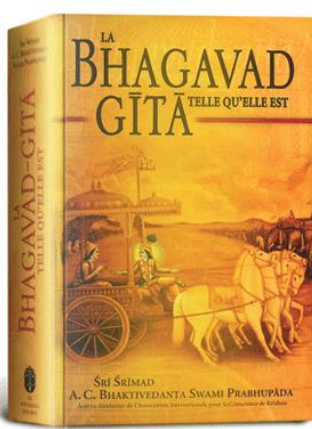

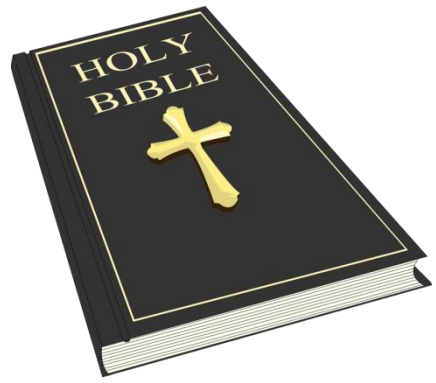

A glowing, wireframe brain is shown floating in a blue sky. The brain is composed of white, interconnected lines, giving it a digital or neural appearance. In the lower right foreground, the silhouettes of a person and a child are visible, looking towards the brain. The background features a sunset or sunrise over a body of water, with a bright sun low on the horizon. The overall scene is set against a deep blue sky with some light clouds.
